Personality for business

The key to building a successful team

When it comes to developing successful happy people and building exceptional business teams there is no substitute for assessing Human Resource in order to best deploy their personalities and talents. ECCOS, based on the Eysenck PQ, gives you a reliable and tested tool to analyse personality traits into predictable workplace behaviours.

Dr Barry Cripps and Dr Mark Cook, together with Dr Sybil Eysenck, have taken the well known Eysenck Personality Questionnaire, and updated it to meet the rigorous, occupational/business standards expected of a personality psychometric. The new test is called ECCOS and follows the robust theoretical position of the Eysenck's EPQ, based in their psycho-physiological model, making the seven scales, truly pan-global, valid and reliable in measuring human personality.

Now you can try ECCOS for free

For a limited time we are offering a free trial of ECCOS, try the questionnaire on someone you know and we'll mark it free of charge and send you the results. Please fill out your details below and return to ECCOS or call 01392 832345
